Temple School Report

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the School Board of Temple:

I hereby submit my third annual report as superintendent of schools.

The work now being done in the schools is on the whole very good. The poorest work has been in spelling, but considerable improvement has been made recently.

The attendance during the month of February has been very poor in all of the towns under my supervision. The registers indicate that this was equally true for many years before that. Last year the per cent of attendance was 64 per cent for February compared with 96 per cent in June. Of course the pupils lose even more than these figures indicate, as schools close on some days because of storms. Moreover, the children lost their interest in interrupted work.

Probably a dollar spent on the schools in February gives only approximately half the return that a similar amount in June would give. It would seem good policy then to prolong the schools into the summer, if the educational welfare of the children is to decide our school policy.

The music in our schools has improved greatly since my last report. In this course we can now see the benefits of continuing the same policy and building on the foundations laid in other years.

At the close of the spring term, we were so unfortunate as to lose the services of all of the teachers then with us. At the beginning of the new school year, Miss Gladys Clough, a graduate of Plymouth Normal School, came to No. 1 school. Miss Anna V. Bursley, a Bridgewater Normal graduate, began at No. 4. Miss Elberta E. Barrow, a graduate of Wilton High School, began the year at No. 5. Miss Bursley resigned at Christmas. Her place was taken by Miss Katherine McCoy of North Chelmsford, Mass. Miss McCoy is a product of Lowell Normal School. All our present teachers are competent and interested in their work. Every effort should be made to retain their services.

The state law in regard to out-houses passed at the 1915 session of the legislature will be enforced by the state authorities beginning this spring. In order to come up to their requirements, some change will be necessary in each school house.

Respectfully submitted,

L. S. MORRISON,
Superintendent of Schools.

REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF MUSIC

To the Superintendent of Schools, Temple, N. H.:

The system of music instruction which we are using in the grades aims first to enable the children, when they enter the high school, to read ordinarily difficult music at sight; and second, to help them become familiar with some of the good things in music that every educated person ought to know.

The work in the upper grades at No. 4 is especially good. And I am intensely interested in the little school at No. 5, having many times talked over the work there with Miss Holtham. There has been wonderful progress from the beginning and this year has been a continuation of the good work. Those who heard them sing two years ago and also heard this year's Thanksgiving program will understand what I mean.

The village school is less satisfactory through nobody's fault this year. It just seems as if many children having difficulty with pitch happened to be in one school with no special leader. They are fine boys and girls, willing to try and by the time spring comes we are going to surprise some of them by the amount of progress we have made. Their technical work has been good. We have there a teacher who is willing to use a great amount of patience and earnest effort as she has proven to me in the last sixteen weeks. If any of the town's people there have children who are troubled about pitch and would be willing to cooperate with us at home Miss Clough or I would be more than glad to tell them what to do. These monotones receive special attention each week and already several pupils who were unable to sing but one tone at the beginning of the year are now singing five. Most of the others have improved to some degree. This difficulty is not usually serious if attended to properly in the lower grades, but becomes harder and harder to help as the pupils grow older.

Each teacher is given an outline of work for the term. This outline is divided into the following parts: Technical work, sight reading, songs, ear training and voice drill. The technical lessons are given as need for them arises. The sight reading consists of exercises from the book, from the board and from the Weaver slips. They are sung by syllable and not more than twice in succession being intended primarily to develop the power of sight reading. The songs are sung by syllable until they are learned, then the words are used. The ear training and voice drill are given to aid the pupils in hearing correctly and in singing on the pitch with sweet, pleasing tones.

I have enjoyed working with all the teachers and I am especially glad to see a town the size of Temple with educational spirit enough to give its boys and girls the advantage and inspiration of public school music. They will never cease to be glad they received it I know.

Thanking you and all who have helped to make the year a success, I respectfully submit this report.

AGNES GENIEVE GARLAND,
Supervisor of Music.
